

In order to enable administrations to benefit from economies of scale flowing from a long-term